

Influence of musical education on development of musical thinking and creativity

K.B. Kravchik

Master of Psychology at Saint - Petersburg State University
Department of Differential Psychology and Developmental Psychology
synthex@list.ru

The work is focused on development of innovation musical-pedagogical process. In comparison to traditional process where education is focused on teaching of playing an instrument, the innovation method develops musical abilities as well as objective and musical creativity. Piano class students learn how to see the process of creation of musical composition from the learned by them composer's point of view.

Key words: intellect, abilities, creativity, musical education.